Abstract

The objective of this study is to survey and compare the satisfactions of any group of employers to the graduates of the year 2002 from any faculty of King Mongkut's Institute of Technology North Bangkok.

It can be generally concluded that the employers satisfy these target graduates of KMITNB with high degrees out of three considerations; adaptation of their knowledges to their jobs, fundamental knowledges influencing for their works and ethical behaviors on their vocations. In the comparison of employer's satisfactions to the graduates from each Faculty of KMITNB, it was found that there were no differences with significant difference at level .05 both in three general and specific considerations for the graduates of Faculty of Engineering, Faculty of Technical Education, Faculty of Applied Science, Faculty of Industrial Technology and Management and College of Industrial Technology. In the comparison of satisfactions of employers' satisfactions from difference fields to the graduates, it was found that there were differences with significant difference at level .05 in three general considerations for the satisfaction of the government/state enterprises employers and private sections. The employers in government/state enterprises pay higher satisfactions than the private sections.
